With its 8 plenaries, 50 symposia, 400 oral presentations and more than 400 posters, the XVII World Congress of Sexology has lined up an exciting programme for everyone interested in the science of sexology.

More than 400 scientific presentations will be offered in simultaneous sessions to complete the programme of plenaries and symposia. Symposia will be presented in a one-hour or two-hour format; oral presentations will last 20 minutes unless they are offered within moderated poster sessions, in which case they will be 5 minutes long including questions.

You are also invited to take part in the special student activities specially designed to stimulate exchanges between students and sexology professionals. Don't miss the opportunity to participate in these very refreshing activities!

English is the official language of the Congress. However, plenary sessions will be translated simultaneously into French and Spanish . Most simultaneous scientific presentations will be offered in English without simultaneous translation, but the Scientific Committee took special care to schedule, at least every day, a session in French and in Spanish.

The following pages present the detailed programme of the XVII World Congress of Sexology. Titles and presenters are listed for each session from Sunday to Friday. The numbers in brackets following each title refer to the CD of Abstracts included in the participant's bag.
